Right to attend. Pursuant to article 28 of the Articles of Association and article 10 of the General Shareholders' Meeting Regulations, the Company's shareholders, regardless of the number of shares registered in their name, will have the right to attend the Annual General Meeting through the use of remote means of communication that allow for a real-time connection with the place where the meeting is to be held, provided that they are listed in the corresponding share register as of at least five (5) days prior to the date on which the Annual General Meeting is to be held. Proof of this must be provided by presenting the appropriate attendance, proxy or voting card or a certificate of entitlement issued by the entity or entities responsible for keeping the book entry register, or in any other manner permitted by current law. Shareholders must also properly register in accordance with the procedure set out in this call notice.

Remote attendance of shareholders and proxies. In view of the current health situation and in order to protect the health of shareholders, employees, directors, suppliers and other persons involved in the preparation and holding of the General Meeting, and to guarantee that shareholders are able to exercise their rights and receive equal treatment, attendance at the meeting will be exclusively remote, in accordance with the rules approved for this purpose, which are published on the Company's website under "Annual General Meeting 2022".

a) Shareholder and proxy registration for remote attendance

Shareholders that wish to attend the General Meeting remotely must register in advance by submitting a remote attendance request no later than 10:00 a.m. (CEST) on 29 April 2022. No registration by a shareholder for the purpose of exercising their right to attend the meeting remotely after the time and date indicated will be accepted.

To request remote attendance, shareholders must send an e-mail to juntageneral@ecoener.es and attach a copy of their national identification document, foreigner identification document or passport, and a copy of the attendance card issued in the name of the shareholder by the Company or by the entity where the shareholder has deposited the shares, duly filled out and signed.

In order for a proxy or attorney-in-fact of a shareholder (whether representing a shareholder that is a legal entity or an individual shareholder) to register and attend the meeting remotely on behalf of the shareholder, the proxy must send an e-mail to juntageneral@ecoener.es and attach the attendance card issued in the name of the shareholder by the Company or by the entity where the shareholder has deposited the shares, duly filled out and signed by the shareholder and by the proxy, together with a copy of the national identification document, foreigner identification document or passport of the proxy or attorney-in-fact. In the case of a proxy of a shareholder that is a legal entity, a copy of the document accrediting the power of attorney or position that allows them to act on behalf of the shareholder that is a legal entity must be included in the registration request. This proxy will be presumed not to have been revoked unless and until the Company receives notice to the contrary by duly authenticated means. The Company may, where applicable or when considered necessary, require any other relevant documents accrediting their power of representation.

Shareholders and their proxies or attorneys-in-fact who have not met the requirements for pre-registration in accordance with the terms and deadlines set forth in the previous sections may not attend the meeting remotely; as such, no additional registration requests will be allowed once the deadline established for the registration request has passed.

Under this pre-registration request procedure, once compliance with the requirements established in the previous paragraphs has been verified, the shareholder or their proxy who has submitted the request will receive, via the e-mail address from which the request was made, a username and password that will enable them to access the remote attendance platform on the day the General

Meeting is held, through a link that will be published on the corporate website, where they will be able to attend, take the floor and vote at the General Meeting.

If shareholders and proxies would like their contributions to be recorded in the meeting minutes, this must be clearly and expressly indicated in the heading of their written submissions. d) Right to vote Shareholders and proxies attending the General Meeting may vote on the proposed resolutions corresponding to the items on the agenda through the link established for this purpose on the Company's website, in the remote attendance section, from the time they are granted access until the voting period has ended during the meeting, which will be duly specified by the Secretary of the Board of Directors during the course of the meeting. The Company will send each shareholder electronic confirmation of receipt of their vote. e) Rules on priorities

Remote attendance by a shareholder or their proxy will render any previous vote cast or proxy designated through any other procedure established by the Company null and void. In the event that a shareholder validly exercises their right to vote through both remote means and a proxy, the former will prevail over the latter. Likewise, any votes cast and proxies designated by e-mail will prevail over those sent by post.

The Company reserves the right to change the mechanisms for attending the meeting through remote means when there are technical or security reasons that make this advisable or necessary. In this case, the Company will publish notice of these circumstances in due form and sufficiently in advance by any means considered appropriate, reporting any changes that may be agreed and, in any case, the other means of remote communication available to shareholders for the casting of votes in person or by proxy. The Company will not be liable to third parties for any such decisions that are beyond its control and could change the envisaged system of remote attendance. In addition, the Company will not be liable for any damages that may be caused as a result of overloads, malfunctions, power failures, connection failures, or similar circumstances that are also beyond its control and temporarily impede the use of the remote attendance systems.

Other issues relating to holding the meeting remotely.

- a) The Company may adapt, with due guarantees, the means made available to allow for remote attendance at the General Meeting by shareholders who are not resident in Spain or are qualified investors, and in other similar cases.
- b) It is the sole responsibility of the shareholder (or their proxy) to safeguard the username and password to access and use the service for attending the meeting remotely. - c) The Company reserves the right to change, suspend, cancel or restrict the mechanisms for designating proxies, voting remotely, or attending the meeting through remote means when there are technical or security reasons that make this advisable or necessary. The Company will not be liable for any damages that may be caused to any shareholder as a result of malfunctions, overloads, power failures, connection failures or any other circumstances of the same or a similar nature that are beyond the Company's control and impede the use of the mechanisms for attending the meeting through remote means.
